The Callaway Family Association

WHO AND WHAT WE ARE

More than 1,000 Callaway descendants from 47 states and 6 foreign countries have become members since CFA was founded in 1975, in Atlanta, GA. Our common interest is Callaway genealogy, sharing family information, records, and stories. This information is available at the Callaway Family Archives in LaGrange, GA. (see ARCHIVES, following)

Membership is open to anyone, whether or not a Callaway descendant, who is interested in furthering the objectives of the Association. All spellings are equally recognized; CALLAWAY was chosen for the title because it appeared to be the most widely used.

We meet each October, in various cities across the country. Sites have been Callaway Gardens, Roanoke, Louisville, Shreveport, Athens (GA), Austin, San Diego, St. Louis, Sacramento, Williamsburg, Orlando, Philadelphia, Knoxville, Little Rock, Frankfort (KY), San Antonio. It is thrilling to reunite with cousins, and to meet "new" ones! Workshops are held on Callaway genealogy, and we enjoy historical tours of the area and family banquets. Those attending elect officers and directors for a term of 3 years.

Members receive an annual journal with news of CFA and of members, family stories, photos (old and new), abstracts of official records (wills, deeds, etc.) from capitals and court houses of colonies and early states. A newsletter also is mailed periodically to members. Currently, a hardcover book of Callaway records and family history is being compiled, for future publication.

Thousands of dollars have been spent on researching early records in the colonies, states and England. We have published the Federal Census records of all Callaways (all spellings) in the USA, 1790 - 1920. Many Callaways in America today are descendants of one of the two colonial lines of the late 1600's: Peter of Maryland and Joseph of Virginia. We continue to research and organize family-related data, and we strive to locate more descendants of these two, plus later immigrants (all spellings).

You are important to us! We would like you to join us in fellowship and in sharing of information. The CFA needs YOU and YOUR Callaway story. You, or an ancestor or relative, might be the very "missing link" someone needs! We are proud of our family name and heritage and want to transfer this pride to generations to come, as accurately as possible. We are excited about this venture and hope you will become a part of it. Complete your application and mail it with your check for dues. We welcome you to our growing ranks!

Callaway Family Association Archives

LaGrange, Georgia

A permanent collection of family documents and records is housed in acid-free boxes within a climate-controlled environment at the Troup County Archives. Computer equipment belonging to the Association can be used by the staff to locate quickly family data for members, from the census records or other documents currently available.

Callaway descendants are invited to expand this data by contributing copies (or originals) of family Bible records, documents (wills, deeds, marriages, etc.), published or unpublished family histories and photographs of ancestors, as well as those of living descendants.

The William Choteau Callaway Memorial Library also is located at the Archives. This collection, in memory of a charter member who served on the Board of Directors, is limited to published volumes containing Callaway family data, histories and information about areas where family descendants lived, or books authored by Callaways on any subject.

Items to be added to the Archives or the Library should be submitted first to the CFA Genealogist or the Historian, to avoid duplication; financial contributions to purchase books for the Library should be sent to the Treasurer. Further questions should be directed to the CFA, at the address on back of this brochure.

CFA and Computers

Computers started in the organization many years ago basically as typewriters with memory. We learned to take this information and combine it with other data and use the computers to do the search work for us. By having the computer look at the data at thousands of records a second, we were able to replace searching paper work with computer searches, saving hours of work.

We input the 5-generation charts into the computer as well as lists of members, audio tapes, video tapes, charts, and books.

We have five computers owned by the Association and several by members. We are presently investigating placing our data on CD-ROMS for membership use.

We are starting an on-line net of members that we hope to include the archives as an Internet source for information.
